

EBBA LUND

Ebba Lund is Chief Executive Officer of the International Association of Science Parks and Areas of Innovation (IASP), a non-profit knowledge-based organization where she supports a global membership of science & technology parks, innovation districts and other spaces of innovation in 80 countries.

With 20 years' experience in the industry of innovation ecosystems Ebba is responsible for overseeing all facets of the organization, driving the mission, operations, and engagement with the board of directors, as well as being key in handling international network relations and knowledge-based services for innovation spaces worldwide. She also has extensive experience in event management, having led the organisation of more than 20 world conferences.

Ebba Lund holds an MA in Media Studies from the University of Aarhus, Denmark, and an Executive MBA from IE Business School, Madrid, Spain. Originally from Denmark, Ebba is based in Málaga, Spain, since 2002.

